Escape to Earth-The Legacy of a Conqueror Saxon Andrew

From the International Bestselling Author, Saxon Andrew, comes the fourth book in the Escape to Earth Series-The Legacy of a Conqueror. The Combined Fleets have pushed back the invasion fleet from the giant galaxy, M-87. However, another player has entered the game and has attacked M-87 with a vengeance. It doesn't take long to discover that the Milky Way is the next target of the Grey Colored Warships.

While this new enemy is moving forward, Earth's best warrior has been arrested and faces charges of treason. The Leaders of Earth see the relationship with the Fellowship Civilization falling apart if Christopher Stone is not turned over for trial. With three galaxies at war and a fourth arming to join the conflict shortly, they reluctantly send him to be tried by the Fellowship.

The entire cluster is a war zone and Lukas has decided that Earth is not going to continue to wait for enemies to attack; Earth is going to take the fight to those that wish to eradicate mankind. It will require a special human to go out and kill trillions to defend Earth and Lukas is wondering what his Legacy will be. One thing he knew for certain certain, planets were going to burn.

The Legacy of a Conqueror continues the story of an alien striving to defend Earth against overwhelming odds. The action builds into a climatic confrontation between four galaxies and a distant enemy.

Excerpt from Legacy of a Conqueror:

“CHRIS!”

“Go ahead, Loree!”

“Something has entered M-87 and is destroying all of our probes ahead of it on a line from the edge of the galaxy directly toward the Legends' planet. The probes have not seen what is killing them.”

Chris stood up, “If you have any of your scouts near that line, get them out now!”

“Already done but we have no way to know what's doing it.”

Chris sat down and started activating his console, “I'm going into the barrier and see if we can find out.”

Chris looked up, “Barbie, do you have the line the probes are being taken out?”

“I do.”

“Give me coordinates ahead of whatever is doing it. Do not pick a location close to the Legends' Planet.”

Chris saw the numbers appear on his panel and he turned the steering wheel and pressed the right pedal. He saw Allison buckle in and activate her armor. He pressed a button on his chair and his armor instantly surrounded him. The Barrier Pod skipped across the giant galaxy in an instant and came to a stop at the coordinates Barbie had given him. “Estimate on how far out it is?”

Allison looked at her console, “It will be here in less than ten seconds. Chris keep your foot on the pedal and be ready to get out here!”

Chris stared at the void monitor as he said, “Why?”

“This may be more Legends.”

Chris's eyes widened and he started to get out but it was too late. They stared at the void monitor and saw a ship coming at them that was beyond their worst nightmares. It flew past them in an instant and Chris held his breath. He watched for it to turn and come back toward them but it continued toward the Legends' Planet. Allison was shaking as she looked at him, “WHY DIDN'T YOU RUN!?”

“It was here before I could. I was too stunned to react.”

Allison blew out quick breaths and fought to gather control of her breathing and heard, “I guess that answers one question.”

Chris exhaled, “What is that Barbie?”

“They can’t see us in the barrier.”

Allison shook her head, “That’s a hellava way to find out!”
