Understanding Football for Beginners: How to Understand Football in Less Than an Hour Jack Hicks
Learning football is not as difficult as you may have thought. Some people think football is confusing and sometimes it can seem that way. Often the problem begins with trying to learn football from someone who understands football but is so wrapped up in the game they are watching that they can't explain football adequately. Fans of football get so mesmerized watching the game that they don't want to explain it and may even get agitated when asked to explain football. That's where this book comes in.

Read "How to Understand Football for Beginners" once. Then watch a game on television. You will see that it's possible to understand football in less than an hour! If you find some things about football that are not clear, read the short book again and watch another game. By that point you will understand football enough to enjoy the game. You will pick up on the intricacies of football as you continue to watch and enjoy football.

There are no complicated diagrams or discussions of football "formations" or any of that nonsense! You'll just learn how football works and how to enjoy football.

It's fun! And you can read "Understanding Football for Beginners; How to Understand Football in Less Than an Hour," in LESS than an hour!!! Start enjoying Super Bowl parties. Have fun at games with your friends. Spend more time with your significant other and enjoy America's number 1 sport: football!

Author Jack Hicks is a morning radio personality in Minnesota. He saw his first game as a child at the age of ten. He's been watching and learning football ever since. Jack and his morning show co-host, Scott Williams, regularly discuss the NFL, (the National Football League) and the week's games, on the air. While the discussion can get advanced, it's important that they keep the discussion simple enough so that a total football beginner can understand the game of football.
