The Aims of Education

Alfred North Whitehead

The Aims of Education Alfred North Whitehead

Whitehead was an internationally known philosopher, mathematician and educator and generally regarded as one of the great minds of our time. For years a professor of philosophy at Harvard, to which he had come from the imperial College of Science in London, he was personal magnet, drawing to Harvard scholars from all over the world. Among his books are the monumental Principia Mathematica, Science and the Modern World, Adventures of Ideas, Process and Reality. Supreme Court Justice Frankfurter, calls this book a deeply penetrating book and says: I have for some time been convinced that no single figure has had such a pervasive influence.
